COUNTY LEGION POST OBSERVES WASHINGTON'S NATAL ANNIVERSARY

Men From U. S. Coast Guard Base, No. 15, Participate in Parade—Exercises at Central School Auditorium—Lt.-Gov. Adam Addresses People.

Washington's birthday was duly and appropriately observed in Bay St. Louis and Hancock county Monday when members of the County Legion Post, American Legionnaires, dedicated the day in full patriotic motif.

The city had been gayly decorated with the American flag, out of regard both for the country and its first Father as well as for the Legion Post. It was apparent there was a unanimous action in the premises and the result was inspiring to the spirit and pleasing to the sight.

At 2:30 Legion parade was formed at Hotel Weston. Included in the parade were officers and members of U. S. Coast Guard Base, No. 15, stationed at Biloxi, headed by Lt. C. C. Childs, members of the Society of the Immaculate Conception, members of Graham Legion Post of Gulfport, and members of the Coast Guard, members of the St. Stanislaus College Brass Band, and members of the Bontemps Post, all of whom made a fine showing. Striking of course, were Uncle Sam's boys of the coast guard, in uniform and carrying guns.

Arriving at Central School Auditorium Commander Laurent Dickson opened the ceremony with appropriate remarks, followed by official and formal reception of the American flag.

Mayor Charles Traub, Sr., delivered a short but appropriate address of welcome, followed by an address by Lt. C. C. Childs, U. S. Coast Guard, which was followed by applause.

Representative Robt. L. Genin was the next program speaker and his interesting address on the occasion and spoke of Washington in eulogistic terms. Mr. Genin is a happy and engaging speaker and this occasion was no exception.

Lt.-Gov. Bidwell Adam, a favorite of Hancock county, was the principal speaker of the afternoon and his discourse of Washington was worthy of the immortal character. Gov. Adam preceded his eulogy with divers and sundry remarks apropos to the occasion and was frequently applauded.

Rev. C. C. Clark of the First Methodist church of the afternoon and his discourse of Washington was worthy of the immortal character. Gov. Adam preceded his eulogy with divers and sundry remarks apropos to the occasion and was frequently applauded.

Music for the occasion was furnished by St. Stanislaus Band, playing appropriate numbers of patriotic and inspiring airs.

Commander Dickson closed the afternoon with a few remarks after which the ceremonial withdrawal of the flag from the stage took place.

Part of Washington Day program Monday, a benefit entertainment was given that evening at St. Joseph's Academy Gym under auspices of the County Post, No. 139, of Hancock County, benefit gym building fund, the Post donating entire proceeds.

"He," one act drama by Nance O'Neill, was presented by members of the Coast Dramatic Club, of Gulfport, Miss. charging nothing for their services. This drama was tense and exciting. The cast included, W. B. Cook, Jimmie Maxwell, H. A. Genung, Jr., Ruth Scott and Al Williams.

"Lost in the Shuffle," was a negro dialect sketch creditably rendered by Harry S. Saucier and Martin O. Blanchard of Bay St. Louis.

A feature was music by Bay St. Louis Municipal Band, composed of local talent, young ladies and young men who have made remarkable progress within the comparative short time since the band was organized.

Owing to threatening weather the audience was not as large as might have been, however, a goodly-sized audience enjoyed the evening when so varied and pleasing a program was presented.

J. PERRY DRAKE RETURNS HOME FROM LONG HOSPITAL STAY

J. Perry Drake, well-known young business man of this city, who was struck by a passing automobile at Seashore Camp Grounds, near Biloxi, November 11, and who has been at the Biloxi Hospital ever since, was removed to his home at his brother's, Mr. E. S. Drake, Uman avenue, Wednesday. After a stay of nearly four months in bed at the hospital, and undergoing two operations for the setting of a broken hip bone, he has improved to that point where he is able to be removed and at home once more again.

Mr. Drake has had a hard time, but it is good news to learn of his improved condition to that extent that he is back home and where friends may call. It will be remembered he had alighted from a bus and was about to cross the beach front road, going over to the camp grounds, when an auto coming from an opposite direction caught him.

FINE EXHIBITS OF PAINTING EXHIBITED AT C. OF C. OFFICE

Gulf Coast Art Ass'n Has Showing of Prize Winning Pictures in Oil and Water Colors.

At the Chamber of Commerce office section in the Masonic Temple, Main street there is an unusually fine exhibit of prize-winning and other meritorious paintings in oil and water color, presented by the Gulf Coast Art Association, under auspices of Bay St. Louis Chamber of Commerce.

The exhibit is by far the best yet shown here, and carries more subjects than ever. There are pictures of many views and in different style of painting—many not unfamiliar to our people.

Miss Nannie-Maries Crump, of Gulfport, has two pictures done in oil, showing boat and landing scenes along the Gulf Coast, and Mr. Russ, resident of Lake Shore, has two boat scenes in oil that are strikingly artistic and attractive, in addition to a scene of his moss-draped home at Lake Shore.

Another picture of merit and interest shows a Bourbon street scene at New Orleans, with the old French Opera prominent in the forefront, a faithful likeness and stirs many emotions.

The exhibit is opened daily from 9 to 5 at the Chamber of Commerce, with Mrs. M. Juden, secretary in charge. The public is especially invited to view this art gallery. There is no charge and no obligation. The pictures were brought here from Biloxi. Each is properly labeled. No catalogues to buy.

ROTARY IS HOST TO GULF PARK

Musicians From Coast College Entertain Bay Club—Event Outstanding.

Bay St. Louis Rotary Club was host Wednesday noon to a party of twelve young ladies, students from Gulf Park College, on the Mississippi Coast, on occasion of the club's regular weekly luncheon. The party of musicians was composed of Misses Dorothy Berry, Mary Taliaferro, Betty Brothus, Dorothy Boys, Jean Clark, Catherine Anne Hivieck, Louise Cozart, Francis Broune, Betty Nicholson, Virginia Plunkett, Marion Brewer and Miss Lorraine Barbara, director.

Luncheon was served in main dining room of Hotel Weston, with the long table for Rotarians and invited gentlemen guests, while on the south side of the room was another beautifully decorated table, reserved especially for the ladies from Gulf Park visiting guests. Seated with them were Mrs. C. C. McDonald, Mrs. H. U. Canty, Mrs. C. G. Moreau. Both tables were decorated with vases of peach and crab apple blossoms and many japonicas of deepest red. The flowers were in profusion and served as a striking decoration, after which they were sent to the departing guests. Mrs. C. A. Breath thoughtfully sent these from her gardens to Mrs. Bourgeois of the hotel for the occasion.

Forthcoming Convention. Several announcements were made during the luncheon to club members, including the forthcoming district meeting to be held at Gulfport May 4 and 5 and it was said that a one hundred per cent attendance was expected. The announcement was also given that Jos. O. Mauffray had been appointed as member of the committee of one, "On To Gulfport" for the occasion.

Benefit Entertainment. It was also announced that the committee in charge had selected Friday, April 19, as the date for presentation of "Footlight Frolics" by Gulf Park College, to be given at Central School Auditorium, benefit night school of Rotary Club. This benefit is tendered the Bay St. Louis Rotary Club annually through President H. R. Cox and faculty of Gulf Park.

Among specially invited guests at Wednesday's luncheon were W. Val Yates, C. A. Breath, Jr., Lucien M. Gex, Alden Mauffray.

Rotary program for next week includes the delivery of a talk on the history of Bay St. Louis, a local subject of absorbing interest, by a well-known local attorney.

MANY FANS ATTEND BOXING

Boxing was inaugurated before the Bay fans Tuesday night and judging from the enthusiastic crowd which turned out to witness the efforts of the boys, this sport is going to take the town by storm. There was not one dull moment during the fourteen bouts offered—yes, there were four more than scheduled. This was done to give every one on the squad a chance to show his wares.

A great deal of improvement was shown by the boys over their first efforts in practice. The little fellows of course took the house. Several of them have foot-work which might be envied by many of their older teammates.

Many Ladies Attend. The large number of ladies present attested to the cleanliness of the sport and we are sure that the next turnout will fill the gym. We are certain that a new seating arrangement will have to be found to help take care of the crowd for the next meeting, which we hope will be early in March. Negotiations are under way with St. Francisville, Louisiana, Catholic High of Baton Rouge, Spring Hill High School and several others.

Those taking part in Tuesday's card with the order of their appearance follows:

Joe Glover vs. F. Nix, 2 rounds; A. Villa vs. A. Wackerle, 148; Geo. Benedetto, 126 vs. W. Judlin, 129; H. Roy vs. Hamner, 98; Phil Jacob vs. Boone, 138; Red Raine vs. Loyacano, 141; Flink 138 vs. Loyacana, 141; Smythe 123 vs. Moty 129; Hobbs 163 vs. Lacour, 162; Bill Foster 155 vs. P. Labry 155; F. Roy 88 vs. J. Glover, 94; Joe Castro 163 vs. Daigle 172; Tormina 139 vs. Blaise 183; Sam DeLozier 121 vs. Mathews 124; Carl Rothmann 63 vs. D. Glover 63.

Buster Mallin was the third man in the ring for all the bouts and every one was in accord with his judgment in calling all draws.

"FOOTLIGHT FROLICS" TO BE PRESENTED FOR ROTARY, APR. 17

Annual Stage Presentation By Gulf Park College For Bay St. Louis—Big Program.

An event looked for each year is that presented in Bay St. Louis by members of the Glee and Dramatic Club of Gulf Park College, of which Dr. Richard G. Cox is president.

This presentation is made possible through the thoughtfulness and generosity of Dr. Cox and the college faculty who offer this benefit each season to the Bay St. Louis Rotary Club. Every year the Rotary Club has donated the proceeds to some other organization of this city, at times dividing it. Having thus served others, the club committee in charge this year decide to help its own treasury in order to help its night school for boys and girls. Accordingly, proceeds will be for the Bay St. Louis Rotary Club Night School and general fund.

Date selected is Friday, April 17, and place of presentation, Central School auditorium. Committees for this benefit will soon begin functioning most actively and the support of the public is solicited.

This year the varied program is known as "Footlight Frolics." It is said to be quite novel and entertaining and exceeds that of other years. The event will be noteworthy and Bay St. Louis will turn out in large numbers for the occasion. Every member is clever, artistic and of a high order; entertaining to that extent that each succeeding season a full house greets the young artists from Gulf Park.

Adjutant of Local Post Tells Proper Manner of Displaying American Flag

Adjutant J. L. Bynum, of the Bay St. Louis Legion Post, supplies the following extract from part of the American flag code which should be read and preserved for future reference.

In the display of flags during the early part of the week it was noticed one flag was nailed through the cloth to a building and allowed to remain out overnight in the rain. This was not intentional but shows a lack of knowledge of proper respect for the flag.

There are certain fundamental rules of heraldry which, if understood generally, would indicate the proper method of displaying the flag of the United States of America. The matter becomes a very simple one if it is kept in mind that the flag represents the living country and is itself considered a living thing. The union of the flag is the honor point; the right arm is the sword arm and hence the point of danger and hence the place of honor.

The flag should be displayed only from sunrise to sunset, or between such hours as may be lowered slowly and ceremoniously. The flag should be displayed on all National and State holidays and on historic and special occasions. (However, being the emblem of our country, it ought to fly from every flagpole every day throughout the year, weather permitting.)

2. Caution. Do not permit disrespect to be shown to the flag of the United States of America.

WORK AND PLAY AT S. J. A.

S. J. A. TO PLAY OPENING GAME OF TOURNAMENT.

The Gold Jays are to play the opening game of the Tournament which begins next Thursday night at the College gym. The Jays will play their first game against Long Beach. Much speculation is being done in regard to this game as S. J. A. did not meet Long Beach this year. However the Gold Jays are going out to win.

Come on girls to the College gym next Thursday and help them to victory. The game is to begin at 7:30 P. M.

S. J. A. drew a "bye" for the second game which will leave the team free Friday and bring them up to their next game on Saturday afternoon. The rest is but conjecture. Will they go to the finals this year? Gold Jays we hope so and we're all for you so—fight!—fight!

ATTENTION SODALISTS! How Many Delegates Will We Send To The Convention?

"Are you going to the Sociality Convention?" "What Convention?" "Why didn't you hear a convention of all the Children of Mary of the South is to take place in New Orleans the Loyola Gymnasium on March the sixth and seventh. It is to be conducted on a yet larger scale than last year's and Father Daniel Lord, well-known and much loved director of the Children of Mary Sodality throughout the United States, is to be present."

Matters relating to the Convention occupied the greater part of the Sociality meeting last Thursday. About fifteen girls signified their intention of going to assist at this Dixie Convention of the Children of Mary. We know that they will enjoy it. All who went last year were so glad that they could go, but our delegates we are sure will bring back to us the pep and spirit which cannot fail to be the fruit of the Dixie Convention.

MASS AND COMMUNIONS INCREASE.

Mass and Communions are noticeably on the increase since the beginning of Lent. Evidently some of our Sodality has awakened up to the fact that this is a special time of penance and prayer. There is still lots of room for improvement we have not yet reached the fifty per cent mark. No—not the twenty five per cent mark, neither. Here's hoping that next week will see us there.

A special vote of thanks is due those girls who spent at least a half hour of their time in fixing the black boards in the First and Second Room. It is on these boards that the Sodality check their names each morning signifying whether or not they have attended Mass and received Holy Communion.

S. J. A. GIVEN HALF- HOLIDAY TO CELEBRATE WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY.

The announcement last Monday that the school would be given a half holiday in honor of Washington, met with the unanimous approval of the student body.

That afternoon the majority of the girls of S. J. A. viewed the parade of the American Legion which formed at 2:30 P. M., and then they proceeded to the Bay Hi Auditorium where they assisted at the program, conducted there under the auspices of the American Legion.

Monday night the Legion gave a delightful entertainment in the S. J. A. Memorial Hall. The one act play "The" was the chief feature of this entertainment. Two most enjoyable sketches followed. In spite of the bad weather a goodly crowd assisted at this program, part of the proceeds of which are to be given to S. J. A.

TAKEN FROM A DIARY.

I am sure that the "diamond jousts" of King Arthur's time didn't create any more excitement than the basket ball-tournament is creating at the convent. It just seems as if Thursday (the opening day) will never come.

The American Legion celebrations in honor of George Washington were most interesting. One of the best features of the day was the half-holiday which Mother Claire allowed us. Well, almost ten days of Lent have passed, it's hard to believe! Usually people look upon Lent as such a dreary, sad period of time, but so far it hasn't been bad at all. And it is fun to see how much will-power we have when someone offers us cakes and candy.

Well, diary—I'll have a lot to tell you next week, we'll know the results of the tournament then. Guess I'd better stop for a while now.

WHAT CHANGES A YEAR CAN BRING.

Can anyone here present today tell us what the future has in store? Who knew long ago that we'd come to the Bay?

Did the thought ever strike you before? Who dreamed our teacher Sr. St. John

Would now be removed from S. J. A.? And who knows as time drifts on and on

If Latin won't seem as easy as play? If our friends always remain the same

And ever to us be loyal and true? Or will they be the first to blame? Did the thought ever occur to you? For a true friend is like a diamond

A stone that is precious and rare But false friends you can always find

Like Autumn leaves they are everywhere. Who can tell if the coming year will add to our joy or our sorrow? Will there always be those who are near?

When we awaken on the morrow? Who thought on Washington's birthday That we'd actually get a half holiday? And last but not least pray tell me Who knows about the exams for May?

PASS CHRISTIAN COUPLE CELEBRATE 25TH WED- DING ANNIVERSARY

At Pass Christian Last Sunday Evening at Home—Citizens Present Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wittman With Chest of Silver.

An affair of beauty and unusual interest was the celebration at Pass Christian Sunday night of the silver anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wittman, life-long and universally esteemed residents of that city.

The home in Second street was transformed into a bower of rare flowers, cut in profusion abounding in the various rooms of the place. In the dining room a long table was set in white and silver and seated at the head, pouring punch was Miss L. C. Del Bondio, gracious and with that warm spirit of hospitality which has endeavored for her many friends, along the Gulf Coast as well as in New Orleans and Mobile, known not only over a long period of time for her social activities but for generous benefactions as well.

The festal table had been set by deft fingers and roseative hands of March the sixth and seventh. It was expressed in color and floral decoration all that might be taken as symbolic of so auspicious an occasion. Cakes with icing of white and decorated with silver-colored ornamentation served as decorative setting along with great bouquets of superb roses, fastened with white ribbon and entwined with the most delicate of fern.

On a table nearby part of the tributes wishing the couple well and God-speed in their onward journey through the next twenty-five year period was a great chest of silver.

Gift of People of Pass

This chest, containing a complete equipment of table silver, handsomely patterned and of latest design, was a gift from the people of Pass Christian, a present that represented a unanimous and united sentiment of friendship and loyalty.

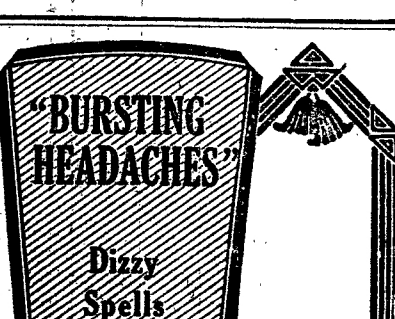

This chest was presented by Lt. Gov. Bidwell Adam of Mississippi, resident and life-long friend of Mr. and Mrs. Wittman, and followed at the house after a nuptial high mass had been celebrated at St. Paul's Catholic church, 9:30 o'clock. Rev. Father Wm. J. Leach, celebrant. Governor Adam made the presentation in the midst of many friends who had assembled for the occasion and in his happy and felicitous manner paid tribute to the two splendid citizens of Pass Christian, who have so happily abided in conjugal bliss but dwelt on the common in that manner which manifested a spirit of love and friendship that was touching. This gesture was quite effective in its simple and sincere ceremony, and then Mr. Wittman replied with manifestation of earnestness, the very depth of his voice touching in the extreme.

Large and Distinguished Gathering.

During the day friends dropped in to express their good wishes and congratulations and when evening arrived, time for formal reception, from 7 to 10 great lines of automobiles lined each side of the street for many blocks. The spacious home and porches accommodated many, and the wonder was expressed where did all the people come from. Each came with a thought for the continued happiness of Mr. and Mrs. Wittman and their splendid family of five sons and one daughter. God, in his beneficence had blessed this original union of twenty-five 12-month cycles, by granting the supreme grace of a large

The BEST Gray Hair Remedy is Home Made

To half pint of water add one ounce bay rum, small box of Bardo Compound and one-fourth ounce of glycerine. Any druggist can put this up or you can mix it at home at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. It will gradually darken streaked, faded or gray hair and make it soft and glossy. Rubs not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off.

Mrs. Cora Moshier, of 601 North New Orleans Ave., Brinkley, Ark., writes: "I was so constipated until I was just sick. I could not stand to take strong medicine, so I decided I would take Black Draught, and I found it to be all right."

"I would have such dizzy spells, and such bursting headaches, until I could hardly go. But after taking a few doses of Black Draught, I would feel just fine. It is a good medicine, and I recommend it to all who suffer as I did. It is very easy to recommend a medicine that has done as much for me as Black Draught has done."

Qualifications Necessary To Vote.

Under the Mississippi constitution to be a qualified elector one must have paid all of his or her taxes on or before February 1, 1931, and must have registered four months prior to the November election.

The law also provides that any person who shall knowingly procure his registration as a qualified elector when he is not entitled to be registered, or under a false name, or as a qualified elector in any other election district than that in which he resides, shall, on conviction, be fined not exceeding $100 or imprisoned in the county jail not exceeding one year, or both. The same penalty shall apply to anyone who is disqualified for any cause and shall register before removal of such disqualification to avoid the same, and to all who shall in any way aid in such false registration.

THE SOURCE

of Motor Oil

is not nearly so important as the manner in which it is refined!

"IT'S NOT WHERE YOU COME FROM—BUT WHAT YOU CAN DO!"

CRUDE OIL is not an automobile lubricant. It is converted into motor oil by a refining process which removes the wax and extracts the gasoline, kerosene and lighter fuels.

The lubricating value of a motor oil depends upon the method of refining and the care used in the refining process, rather than the source from which the crude is secured.

The best quality crude oil, regardless of its source, is selected for the refining of "STANDARD" Motor Oil. Then comes the refining process, based on our 50 years' experience in the manufacture of petroleum products. The result is "STANDARD" Motor Oil that year after year leads all other motor oils in sales in the territory in which it is sold.

ST. STANISLAUS TAKES TWIN BILL FROM SPRING HILL.

Stanislaus took both ends of a double bill of basketball from the Spring Hill High School. On Monday here Saturday night and Sunday afternoon. The first game went to the Rock-A-Chows 51 to 22. Sunday afternoon found Spring Hill boys playing its fourth game in as many days. They undoubtedly caused the score of 61 to 12 for the Saints. The clean playing of the Spring Hill boys exhibited in both games with their all around sportmanship won for them the reputation of being the best sports seen on the Stanislaus floor this season. With these games the basketball season ends, having lost three games out of 19 played. Track and boxing will be next.

TALKIE VERSION OF GRAND OPERA LOUDLY CHEERED

First Night Crowd in New York Applauds as if Live Actors Were on Stage.

New York, Feb. 21.—A first night crowd applauded a movie-and-talkie version of the opera "Pagliacci" last night as if live actors were on the stage. The picture, first of its kind to be shown in America, lacked only color effects of attaining reality. Alva Novelli, 20-year-old Brooklyn girl who had the role of Nedda in the film version was present in person. She sang two songs in Italian. The other stellar role, that of Canio, was played by Fernando Bertini, Italian engineer, architect and painter, who is art director of a radio station in Rome.

CALLED TO HEAVEN.

A motorist had just crashed a telephone pole. Wires, pole and everything came down around his ears. They found his unconscious in the wreckage, but as they were untangling him he reached out feebly, fingered the wires and murmured: "Thank heaven, I lived clean—they've given me a harp."

QUALIFICATIONS ARE ESSENTIAL TO BE CO. SUPERINTENDENT

By W. F. BOND
The school code has changed somewhat the qualifications of those who would be County Superintendents of Education.

Such a person must be a qualified elector, a resident citizen of the state for four years, and of the county for two years immediately preceding his election. He must be a high school graduate with not less than two years of successful teaching experience as a teacher. Teaching experience is not necessary if the prospective candidate is a graduate of a standard college. Furthermore, all such candidates must pass the examination given by the State Board of Examiners, in question now is the resident citizen requirement under the law. The Attorney General has ruled that "Resident Citizen" is meant one who has actually lived in the county during the last two years. Any one in doubt about this matter should write the Attorney General for an opinion.

Famous Clown Visits City and Participates In Legion Celebration

Arthur G. Montague, fifteen years as circus clown, donated his services Monday to the American Legion Parade and benefit show that night, and made quite a hit with his clever and grotesque antics. His career is quite interesting, born in 1898. During the year of 1923 he was at the height of his career, being the highest paid clown in the world and as such had a general reputation. He arrived in Bay St. Louis Monday morning from Mobile, after participating in the police ball and several charity performances. While here he was the personal guest of Sheriff Joseph C. Jones.

PICAYUNE ROTARY CLUB CELEBRATES LADIES' NIGHT AND FEBRUARY 22

George Washington's Birthday Selected as Fitting Motif
For Program—C. L. Crosby's Birthday Not Forgotten—Clever Toastmistress.

Presenting at least two Ladies' Night entertainments a year, Picayune Rotary Club, of Picayune, over in the neighboring county of Pearl River, on Friday night gave its first of the series for this year and resulted in an evening of unremitting pleasure as a whole and of individual delight and edification to everyone fortunate to have been present.

Quality Rather Than Quantity.

Picayune's Rotary Club is not an organization noted for its numbers or quantity, but, like the Bay St. Louis Club, quality essentially. The men who make up the Picayune Rotary Club are from the ranks of that number and represent the best thought and substantial side of the community. Men who do not who are the first of things and who are always first with their best efforts and purse for every move calculated for the betterment of the town and its people.

Live President and Secretary.

Such material compose the Picayune Club, and its president is Harold Crosby, a leader of his community, with his father, H. C. Crosby an honorary member, who, indeed is most active. Frank Bevan is the young and live secretary, a fellow who has entered into Rotary with the right and vibrant spirit; by no means a drone. Frank, like his fellow members, is alive and alert.

Theme Historical and Colorful.

Taking Washington's birthday anniversary as its theme, Picayune Rotary celebrated its Ladies' Night with that subject as its motif for decoration and program. President Crosby was attired in pink satin of Washington's time, wearing the white wig of that period, while Mrs. Crosby fittingly represented Martha Washington in satin dress of blue, and, too, wore the white wig. They sat side by side at the speaker's table, along with other honored and distinguished guests. A number of the younger members of Rotary were attired to represent Uncle Sam and later it was revealed that they were to form the number of quartette, chorus, etc., rendered effectively and unforgettably.

Speaks in Rhyme and Meter.

Following President Crosby's greeting of address, Rotarian L. F. Taylor, wife of Judge Taylor (Rotarian) was announced as the toastmistress of the evening, and how well she discharged her part of the evening is best attested to by those who heard her introduce each speaker, every number in mystic terms of thought, concealing the identity of the forthcoming speaker in rhyme and meter as she went on with her song of words. Such clever woman! It is noted that in celebrating its Ladies' Night the Picayune Rotary Club turned over the affair practically in its entirety to Rotarians. Writing from results one is justified in saying, not a bad idea!

Feast Served at Peach Tree Inn.

The larger dining room of Peach Tree Inn served as the scene of feast and entertainment. Mrs. Weston assisting Mr. Weston as manager, in charge for the hotel, served a menu that combined quality and quantity, with American tri-colors predominating table decorations. At each lady's plate was a miniature band-box like containing a corsage bouquet, the flowers of confection, while at each gentleman's plate was a boutonniere of herries tied to a miniature hatchet of vivid color. Then a printed slip at each plate afforded a guessing contest, thus along with other thoughtful conceits that made for the evening one of fleeting moments.

Speaking of Two Great Men.

Following the dinner, the program of the evening inaugurated. Among the number was an address by Judge L. L. Tyler, whose subject was "A Great Man's Birthday." Judge Tyler dilated on the enduring greatness of Washington in endearing terms, his eulogistic address merging into and unto another upon whom the people of Picayune and Pearl River county look upon with such favor as link his name with that of greatness but more local in aspect. This is C. L. Crosby, whose birthday, too, was being celebrated. For the occasion a large cake with candles (how many unrecalled) was presented him and which he received with terms of thanks and gratitude, as he expressed it. Although coming as a surprise, Mr. Crosby was not at a loss for thought and words. He cleverly expressed his appreciation, briefly, cleverly and to the point.

CURRENT COMMENT

For The Sea Coast Echo.

The veterans bonus bill has passed the House by a majority of about ten to one, and it is hard to say how far it will have been carried on the rapidly flowing tide of current events by the time this comment is in print. Considering that six months may pass before its provisions are put into operation, its value as a means for affording immediate relief is questionable. The president lacks support in his opposition to it. If the bill becomes a law he cannot claim the credit. If it produces disaster, either to the veterans or to the general public, the responsibility, apparently, will rest upon Congress.

It is raining daffodils;
In every dimpled drop I see
Wild flowers on distant hills.

It is raining roses down.

the immediate neighborhood, presidents and their respective Rotarians had been specially invited as guests of the club, and in this Bay St. Louis was represented. Acknowledgment is here made of special courtesies and attention throughout the evening. Visiting guests have never been received with such favor. Visiting Rotarians and other special guests of the fair sex were ceremoniously presented with carnations of deepest red color.

It had been originally intended to extend a more general invitation but, owing to the limited size of even the larger dining room of the hotel, it was necessary to limit the number. However, it is estimated some seven-five participated in the feast.

NATIONAL PECAN MARKETING ASS'N.

Jackson, Miss., Feb. 26.—Pecan growers of Bay St. Louis and surrounding area have been asked to attend a meeting at that place March 13, at 7:30 P. M., when invitations will be extended for them to affiliate with the National Pecan Marketing Association for the cooperative marketing of forthcoming pecan crops.

The purpose of the meeting, which will be in charge of S. H. Gibbons, organization director of the marketing association, will be to acquaint pecan growers with the services rendered by the national organization through its local associations in Mississippi. The country agent will cooperate with Mr. Gibbons in holding the gathering.

Mississippi has now two local associations of the national organization, the South Central Pecan Growers Association, at Gulfport, and the Natchez Pecan Marketing Association, at Natchez. Efforts are being made to expand those two organizations to include additional producers.

Those attending the Bay St. Louis meeting will be informed as to the operations of the local and national associations during the past year, and plans for marketing this year's pecan crop of the members will be outlined. Official representatives of both the local and national associations will attend the Bay St. Louis meeting, to which all pecan growers of that section, whether members of the association or not, are being invited.

The National Pecan Marketing Association was formed last July at a meeting of pecan growers of many parts of the pecan producing area of the country, held here. Jackson was chosen as headquarters of the organization. Although it began functioning rather late for the 1930 harvest season, the association handled about 5 per cent of the native varieties.

To date, the marketing association has a membership of 19 local organizations scattered over South Carolina, Oklahoma, Texas, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi and Florida, with four local associations in Oklahoma, eight in

STANISLAUS COLLEGE ECHOES

The Senior Class of St. Stanislaus entertained at the fifth annual tea dance on the afternoon of Mardi Gras. The affair was a happy success, it was enjoyed by both the guests and their hosts. Dancing continued from two to six except for a brief intermission during which refreshments were served by the Mesdames, Powers, LaCoste, Carriere and Monti.

At intervals during the afternoon feature dances were conducted to further enliven the already gay assembly. Among those were the Waltz contest, was won by Miss Effie Powers and Bill Masterson and the Balloon dance which furnished a great deal of merriment both for the participants and observers, the survivors of this contest were Miss Francis Turner and Eugene Lyons. Prizes were awarded to the winners of both these contests. Later during the party a prize was given to the most popular girl, the charming Miss Alma LeJeune who was chosen by lot from the three most popular girls of the afternoon. The Misses LeJeune, Carriere and Blaize.

The Lucky Girl prize was won by Miss Cruthirds of Gulfport who danced with "our hero" Dick Doggett. Guests for the dance included young ladies and gentlemen friends from Bay St. Louis, Pass Christian and Gulfport.

The Senior Class wishes to take this opportunity to thank Bro. Peter and Bro. Vincent for their cooperation in helping with the event and also Professors Andrade and Wentworth who acted as Judges; the latter also serving as master of ceremonies.

The event is over but the pleasant memories of a most enjoyable afternoon will long linger in the minds of all who were present.

HOSPITAL EXPERT TELLS PLANS FOR RANKIN PLANT

Mississippi's New Institution for Care of Insane To Be One
Of Most Modern In Community; Poultry, Fruit Farms
To Be Included.

By EDGAR S. WILSON

Dr. C. D. Mitchell, superintendent of the Mississippi Insane Hospital for the past 13 years, possesses an enviable national reputation. Under the law, Dr. Mitchell is a member of the state hospital removal commission. He has just returned from a visit to the east where he inspected insane hospitals which represent the last word in modern construction of such institutions. The information obtained will be of value in the completion of the Mississippi Insane Hospital buildings at Whitfield, Rankin county, eight miles east of Jackson.

Dr. Mitchell hopes that all the buildings for that institution will be completed, and all the patients removed from the insane hospital buildings at Jackson to the new hospital by the latter part of his year. Dr. Mitchell states that when the new hospital is completed, it will be one of the best of the kind in the country. We will have practically two institutions around one power house. The wards for the white people will be separate from those for the colored. The new institution will accommodate three thousand patients. The buildings are all fireproof.

The Senior Class wishes to take this opportunity to thank Bro. Peter and Bro. Vincent for their cooperation in helping with the event and also Professors Andrade and Wentworth who acted as Judges; the latter also serving as master of ceremonies.

The event is over but the pleasant memories of a most enjoyable afternoon will long linger in the minds of all who were present.

CONTEST NOTES.

The following is the pairings for the "Oral Composition" contest: F. Trapani and C. Boone, J. Uddo and R. Matraga, A. Fayard and J. P. Perdere; B. Burs and G. Jore, C. Younger and R. Reinhard, P. Stake-lum and F. Ferchaud, W. Smith and C. Fink, P. Schneckenburger and A. Damico; G. Garcia and C. Quintini, G. Boswell and R. Ganucheau; E. Anderson and A. Saucier, J. Hegenbrath H. Bopp; W. Lawless, M. Bertin, W. App and G. Inness; J. Nix, E. Heath and W. Price.

Dr. Mitchell hopes that all the buildings for that institution will be completed, and all the patients removed from the insane hospital buildings at Jackson to the new hospital by the latter part of his year. Dr. Mitchell states that when the new hospital is completed, it will be one of the best of the kind in the country. We will have practically two institutions around one power house. The wards for the white people will be separate from those for the colored. The new institution will accommodate three thousand patients. The buildings are all fireproof.

"Special attention has been paid to the landscaping, and it is my purpose to make it the most beautiful place in the south. In addition to this, it is my purpose to have an orchard of every variety of fruit; and that which is not consumed by the patients will be canned for their use in the winter. Already 2,000 peach trees, 500 apple trees, 500 cherry trees, 1,000 pear trees, 250 fig trees, 250 pecan trees, 250 plum trees and 2,000 grape vines have been set out. Fifteen acres are to be devoted to strawberries. Over 3,000 acres of land are embraced in the new hospital grounds.

To Have Poultry Farm.

"Arrangements have already been made for an ideal poultry farm, with modern buildings and equipment, and also for a dairy herd. It is our purpose to raise a large proportion of meat that is consumed by the patients in order that they can have fresh meat and the best cured meat in the winter. Seventy-five thousand pounds of pork have been killed at the present institution during the present season."

The fact that some candidate for office thinks his adversary possesses every qualification that he ought not to have for the same in nowise qualifies him for the position. The people seem to be demanding a constructive program, especially for governor and members of the legislature, appreciating the fact that the next administration will be confronted with a situation never before known in the executive and legislative annals of the state.

Economy without parsimony is what the people are quoted as expecting of the administration which comes into power in January, 1932. Governor Stone's motto, in deeds if not words, seemed to be "No stint, no waste," and legislatures backed him up.

Mrs. Pauline Alston Clark of Clarksdale, Coahoma county, who represented in part that county in the house of representatives, is a candidate for re-election. Mrs. Clark made a model member of that body and if only her colleagues were permitted to vote, she would perhaps be renominated by acclamation. A woman of affairs, she has contributed largely to the best interest of Clarksdale, Coahoma county, the delta and the state of Mississippi; and her re-election will add to the strength of the house of representatives which assembles the first Tuesday after the first Monday in January, 1932.

The sentiment against the reckless burning of woods seems to have crystallized from the center to the circumference of Mississippi. The land owners have come to understand that conservation, reforestation, and the suppression of forest fires results in an annual money crop. The time seems to have thoroughly arrived when the advocates of woods burnings have become unpopular as the opponents of good roads.

EDITORIAL OF THE DAY

CRIMINAL GOSSIP

(Greenville Democrat Times)
The controller of the federal currency wants Congress to provide a law making it a criminal offense to circulate false reports regarding any national bank or member of the federal reserve system.
There should be a law protecting every type of bank.
Mississippi has suffered dreadfully during the past few months because of gossip or hysteria. Seventy-five per cent of the institutions in the state, that suspended operations were the victims of irresponsible words and deeds. And it is unfortunate that banks are peculiarly defenseless against such attacks. False rumors, once started, tend to roll up like snowballs. Many a perfectly sound bank has been ruined by gossip that was not even malicious in motive. In some sections of the country, however, there are charges that communists have conducted "whispering campaigns" against banks. This may have occurred in some places, but we venture that most of the damage was done by what are generally termed "foxy and croaky" elements.

We are rather reluctant to advocate any more laws than we now have, but just another to muzzle the dangerous gossip or the circulator of false reports would prove beneficial.

CITY ECHOES.

—Mrs. E. J. Leonhard went down to New Orleans Wednesday to attend an informal luncheon given complimentary to her by Mrs. Louis Leonhard of that city.

—No reason to be without a Flashlight—you can get one complete with batteries for only 69 cents. at The Atlas Drug Store.

—Leo W. Seal, executive cashier Hancock County Bank, has been laid up at his home this week with an illness declared to be chicken pox, and not the only adult hereabouts similarly afflicted. We are glad to learn he is better.

—A feature in Monday's Legion parade, occasion Washington's birthday, was the representation of King's Daughters' local hospital, by a number of cars and several professional nurses in regulation garb. Each carried the legend, "King's Daughters' Hospital."

—Pup-E-Rations is an ideal food for under-nourished dogs. Get it for 15 cents per can at the Atlas Drug Store.

—Judge Breath, secretary Peoples Building and Loan Association has sufficiently recovered from his recent bathtub accident as to be able to be up and out again, coming down to his office for the first time Tuesday morning. Mrs. M. Juden, assistant secretary, was office manager during his illness.

—After spending the week-end with her daughter, Mrs. W. A. Staehle, at the family home corner South Beach Boulevard and St. Charles street, Mrs. Louis Sporn returned to her home in New Orleans Monday afternoon, enjoying her periodic trips to and from the Gulf Coast.

—Nifty Ford Fountain Pens. Just the thing for the school children. Only a Dollar at the ATLAS DRUG STORE.

—It might be well to begin thinking about and discussing the subject of watering our dusty streets during the summer or of some other method of allaying the dust. Carroll avenue is said to be the dustiest on this side of the earth. Discussions are discussing holding another meeting in the interest of the cause at an early date. The relief promised last summer failed to realize. The matter of health is paramount.

—A pleasant and welcome visitor to Bay St. Louis for the balance of the season is Mrs. G. S. Boyd, mother of Mrs. (Dr.) Jas. A. Evans, who resides at Dresden, Tenn. Mrs. Boyd says the sight of snow became monotonous and the lure of the Mississippi Gulf Coast was more than she could resist. She is the house guest of Dr. and Mrs. Evans, son and daughter, at the family home on North Beach Boulevard.

—Don't forget the Sunday ice cream Special at the Atlas Drug Store. Between 11:30 A. M. and 3 P. M. (these hours only) you can get a Quart of VANILLA ICE CREAM for 40 cents. Give us your orders as early as possible.

—Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Carpenter and son, Chad, Junior, of Youngstown, Ohio; Mrs. P. G. Beer, and grandson, Kenneth George Beer, of New Castle Penn., accompanied by Mrs. Wm. A. Elliott, of New Orleans, La., motored over to the Coast Wednesday for the day, which was spent touring the Gulf Coast as far as Biloxi and sightseeing. Mr. Carpenter is well known and popular in Youngstown, where he is engaged in the undertaking equipment business. This was his second visit this year to the Coast country and he is so well pleased that he is planning to spend a few days or so on the Coast before returning home around the end of March. The party returned to New Orleans where they have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Elliott and friends. The main aim of their visit south was to witness the New Orleans Mardi Gras which they had never seen. Mr. Carpenter was high in his praise of this section of the country, and said that his only regret is that he cannot remain longer in our section, which he says is most charming and beautiful.

—The city recently completed a fine piece of work of Court street where a new rain water drainage was established at that corner of the beach boulevard and without tearing up the hard surface of the street. A heavy pipe was forced from under, working from the beach end and the work carried out at a minimum of cost, it is said by those in position to know. The original drain at that point was rendered useless when the street was hardsurfaced some time back.

—Mr. and Mrs. H. U. Canty were hosts Sunday to a most delightful house party to friends from New Orleans, who motored over during the early hours of the morning in order to have a full day.

—Mr. Wm. J. Smith, Birmingham; Mr. Stone Smith, Pascagoula; Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Arrington, Gulfport; Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Martin, Mr. and Mrs. M. I am the police station and every day I strive to serve country in control traffic, but when windy day blow short skirt police officer easy can mistake eye and cause serious traffic collision. So I pray Government shortly introduce new law to compel ladies to oblige their limbs. Many police are much agree."

—Mrs. (Dr.) C. Harrington of New Orleans is visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. (Dr.) Jas. A. Evans, today.

—Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Lasker came out from New Orleans Saturday for the week-end and were house guests of their friends, Mr. and Mrs. W. Val Yates in Carroll avenue.

—Attorney Walter J. Gex, Jr., is ill at his home these days with an attack of the prevailing flu, and is missed around the courthouse and in daily business circles. His ailment, however, is light, and it is expected he will be out again within the next few days.

—To Remember the affair, take pictures. 98 cents will purchase a camera at the ATLAS DRUG STORE.

—Dr. and Mrs. A. P. Smith motored to New Orleans and back on Thursday of this week, the Doctor professionally visiting and where Mrs. Smith attended a social function.

—Both the Board of Supervisors and board of city commissioners will convene in regular monthly session Monday, March 2.

—Mrs. P. Jenks returned home Sunday evening from a week-end visit to the home of her son, Mr. John Jenks, and his family at New Orleans.

—George R. Rea, president Merchants Bank, returned home Wednesday forenoon from a business trip to Chicago and points in the vicinity. Mr. Rea states conditions are decidedly better and there is a general upward trend that is noticeable on all sides. The return of normalcy, he said, will soon be fully re-established.

—Mrs. Rupert C. Richards left for Philadelphia Wednesday to join her husband, who left here recently accompanied by Dr. A. P. Smith, and who is recovering from a general breakdown of his health. It will be remembered Mr. Richards narrowly escaped death in a boat explosion last summer, when one life was lost. It is interesting to learn he practically recovered his former good health and is remaining for a while longer for "good measure."

—Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Leche, originally from St. Louis, who have made their home here the past several years, left during the week for Atlanta, Ga., where they will permanently reside in future, regretted by all who know them and their children. Mr. Leche, representing an insurance company of national importance, moved to meet a business requirement. Mrs. Leche was actively identified with many moves for fraternal humanitarian objects and her services will be missed.

—Mrs. E. Boudin, chairman, announced an Easter egg hunt for a parish benefit, to be given on Easter time, under auspices Ladies' Woodmen Circle. The hunt will be quite a novelty, combining as it will eggs and treasure. Real coin will be concealed and eggs will be in hiding in abundance. Eggs are cheaper than ever in the history of egg-peddling and the hunt is expected to be reflected in the hunt.

—Mrs. A. Letten returned from New Orleans Friday evening to which city she had been called some few days previously by a message announcing the death of an aunt, Mrs. Paul Lucas, who passed away in her 87th year, and survived by two children, Mr. Ernest Lucas and Mrs. J. S. Letten, 12 grandchildren and five great grandchildren. Mrs. Lucas was prominently known in New Orleans and the news of her demise brought much sorrow.

—Contractor Alphonse Fayard has successfully moved the building known as Betz's Bakery from that corner of the city known as "Devil's Elbow," and the city acquired that portion of the ground made vacant by the move. Mr. Betz will practically rebuild the place, along with a new oven for the baking department. The city will connect Railroad avenue with Third street by means of a route on a long angle. The improvement will be decided and a traffic hazard removed.

—Murray T. Bangard, who has been seriously ill and laid up at his home in Court Street, is better from an infected arm. The poisoned arm was swollen to enormous proportion and was very painful to say nothing of the apprehension occasioned by a condition that for a while was quite doubtful. Mr. Bangard is connected with the local free rural delivery department of the postoffice, has many friends who will learn with interest of his safety from a most threatening ailment.

—The city recently completed a fine piece of work of Court street where a new rain water drainage was established at that corner of the beach boulevard and without tearing up the hard surface of the street. A heavy pipe was forced from under, working from the beach end and the work carried out at a minimum of cost, it is said by those in position to know. The original drain at that point was rendered useless when the street was hardsurfaced some time back.

—Mr. and Mrs. H. U. Canty were hosts Sunday to a most delightful house party to friends from New Orleans, who motored over during the early hours of the morning in order to have a full day.

—Mr. Wm. J. Smith, Birmingham; Mr. Stone Smith, Pascagoula; Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Arrington, Gulfport; Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Martin, Mr. and Mrs. M. Piper, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Piper, Dr. Frank Osner, New Orleans; Mr. and Mrs. Watson, Biloxi; Mrs. M. Harris, Biloxi; Dr. and Mrs. W. K. Smith, of New Orleans; James Lemarie, Jr., and the Peruvian Counsel at New Orleans.

WIDOW OF DEWEY SUCCUMBS AT 86 IN HOME OF HERO

Guest of Many European Courts, Brilliant Consort
Of Admiral Was Social Leader.

By BESS FURMAN.
(Associated Press Staff Writer.)

Washington, Feb. 21.—Within walls of time-mellowed brocade, betokening a half-century's social reign in Washington, the 86-year-old widow of Admiral George Dewey died today.

Quietly, after social triumphs supreme, Mrs. Mildred McLean Dewey had lived her last years, reading omnivorously, receiving a very few callers, and looking from her stately windows down the busy city that had come crowding to her very door-yard.

Influenza followed by an attack of pneumonia was the cause of her death.

She died in the home where her hero-husband died fourteen years ago, in the home that was a surprise gift from her father, Washington McLean, publisher on the occasion of her first marriage during the Grant administration.

Of rich brocades were all its walls and hangings, of rare woods wrought into panelings all its doors, and famous indeed was it as a salon where great met great.

Eventually it became almost a museum of the Spanish-American War, with the rarest of the Dewey relics on display—the sword with pearl hilt that congress gave him; his admiral's flag that was one of only three, Farragut and Porter having the others; the great loving cup that was bought with 70,000 dimes; and the amazing huge book containing all the newspaper clippings, sketches, and cartoons in which Dewey's name carried from coast-to-coast through the Spanish War years.

Prince Last Received.

Gift of the New York shipping interests, the book of clippings from all contemporary newspapers graphically illustrating history-in-the-making, was of keenest interest to the Prince of Wales, the last person ever socially received in that green gold and brocade salon.

Regal still, but a semi-invalid, the admiral's widow had ceased her social activities when the Prince of Wales requested an audience on his last trip here in 1924. She had treated him on her knees as a child in Buckingham Palace. And for him she broke her rigid retirement rule, in a very stately and very exclusive party—just the prince and his escorts to tea.

On that occasion, she described to him the knee-trotting episode, informing his royal highness that when she had complimented the pretty clothes of the young prince he had airily answered, "we're not always this dressed up."

And in exchange for childhood reminiscence, the prince gave her his autographed photograph, adding one last proud memory to a room already replete with them.

Personal Brilliance Hers.

Famous as was the admiral, the brilliance about Mrs. Dewey was never reflected glory, but centered about her own personality. Hers was a social tradition, inherited from her mother, long one of the capital's grand dames. Indeed she became almost a replica of the portrait of her mother.

She was born in Cincinnati, daughter of the publisher of the Cincinnati Enquirer, and was educated by governesses, tutors, foreign travel, and "finishing schools."

Her fluency of languages later stood her in good stead when she was received at many European courts. And a few days before she died, she was still chatting in German and in French with her maids.

While her life chiefly centered about Washington, she did not miss the adventure of her times. Her first husband was General William B. Hazen of the United States Army, and when he was in the thick of the

DRASTIC ORDERS FOR SAN ANTONIO'S WEST SIDE IS SWEEPING

Orders to Close Joints Like
Lightning Bolt From Blue-Heavens.

By JOHN T. MEYERS
For The Sea Coast Echo.

With the unexpectedness of a lightning bolt hurled from the midst of a blue skyed heaven, the underworld district that has flourished for many years on the west side of San Antonio has received orders from city police headquarters to—"get out."

Detectives and policemen, under orders from superiors, made personal calls on the west side informing bootleggers, gaming resort proprietors and women of ill-fame that a war on vice was declared, and that they must either move out or go to jail.

But even as this ultimatum was being started by officers, the underworld "grape-vine" system of spreading news had traveled the length and breadth of the district. Excited groups of women and their associates met the officers in turn as they went from house to house. Some protested the ruling, others joked, while many accepted the challenge in stoic silence. A few women who have been part of this section for many years seemed on the verge of tears as they heard the law's impartial verdict, it is said.

One old timer, who has witnessed other like wars during the course of many years that the flag of vice has flown defiantly over this section are inclined to believe that the present police edict has only some political significance, and seem optimistic that everything will "blow over" after a while.

However, the majority of the half world inmates have apparently taken the official challenge to mean business. A tour through the section revealed a decided outward change in the appearance of the once wicked west side. In shadowy alleys and other established joints where the hardened and husky voice of Mexican bootleggers openly solicited the passerby for sale of "ice cold beer, or good (weezy)," these rat-like peddlers were conspicuously absent today.

The mechanical tin pan clanging of "nickle-in-the-slot" pianos, so long associated with this atmosphere were silent. And the coarse and painted ladies of iniquitous designs, too, were absent from the rows of doors and windows of the cheap and dismal hovels that predominate in this vicinity.

In place of the usual numerous Mexican girls, many in their early teens, who under cover of night had traded honor for measly lucre, only a few of the more daring remained at the old stand. The slopy muddy streets seemed deserted save for a few soldiers who wandered aimlessly about.

Most of the wide-open restricted districts or large cities over the United States were abolished during the late war, but, somehow, until this sudden and drastic action by the police, San Antonio's underworld has not suffered very much interference. Of recent years this section of the city has created quite an attraction for curious tourists and others, who often included it in their slumming itineraries.

In this case the police have reversed the tables on the underworld. In place of giving the "ride," themselves the underworld colony of San Antonio are going to be taken on a wholesale patrol wagon "ride" if the get out order is not obeyed pronto according to police circles.

Indian uprisings, she was right there gathering one of the most outstanding Indian collections extant.

During her first widowhood, she joined her mother at the old McLean home which was the scene of Admiral Dewey's spectacular homecoming after the Spanish-American War. A show place of the city, it was placed at his disposal.

Fresh from the victory of Manila bay, he was a brave figure indeed to her hero-worshipping eyes, and their romance resulted.

ORIOLE NOTES.

Mrs. Kenneth W. Peppardene entertained her club Wednesday afternoon at the Oriole, with an unusually jolly party.

The Oriole Tea Room representing a miniature spring garden with abundant green vines, peach, pear, and wild plum blossoms, made a perfect setting for these charming ladies in their lovely spring gowns.

Upon entering the Tea Room the guests were startled to find a large sleeping Crazy Kat, occupying the center of the table and small black cats setting about the table among the bowls of peach and pear blossoms and dishes of dainty candies.

The luncheon began with a delicious desert served on large plates and had to be eaten with a butter spreader, causing gales of laughter and much merriment. The luncheon followed in true form, with the wrong silver and coffee in soup bowls.

Bridge was the game chosen for the afternoon. Mrs. Ruth Kane winning high score and receiving low score prize; Mrs. Edmund Fahey receiving high score and prize on low score and Mrs. (Dr.) Buckley out prize. The Crazy Kat party was a great success.

Guests enjoying the hospitality of The Oriole included, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mait, Jr., a bride and groom from Bernside, La.; Mr. Jerome Beck of New York; Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Black, Mrs. A. M. The cost is Small Wherever You call

Talking to out-of-town relatives or friends is the most pleasing and satisfactory means of communication. Telephoning is just like being there in person and the cost is surprisingly small. When using Day Station-to-Station service you can talk a distance of one hundred miles for approximately sixty cents and by using the same service after 8:30 at night you can talk that far for as little as thirty cents. The cost of talking greater distances is correspondingly small.

People everywhere are daily experiencing enjoyable chats with relatives and friends in other cities. You, too, can afford such pleasures. Remember "the cost is small wherever you call."
